

Dr. Ron Dillow

Q: I have had two lower plates made and relined and I still cannot use them. I am embarrassed about the way I look with no teeth in. What can I do?

A: You are not alone. Many people struggle like you do when they wear their lower denture. I have helped many patients overcome this difficulty.

Ask The Dentist

You need and can have teeth that are stable and secure. I do this by using snap in dentures. I have been doing these for over ten years and continue to study the best systems available.

They are easy to place and go to work right away. Many times I can use the denture you already have.

Snap in dentures have changed the lives of many of my patients and they can for you, too.
