

Dr. Ron Dillow

Ask The Dentist

okay, but the lower is a struggle.

The lower jaw moves, the tongue is in the way and the denture must fit around all of this movement.

The one and only way to fix this and fix it for good is to anchor that lower denture to something that stays with the lower jaw when it moves. And today there is something that is easy, quick and relatively inexpensive.

I personally have helped many patients with these. They thank me every time I see them.....and so do their wives.

Here at Todays Dental Care.....Here at Todays Dental Care the focus is on you, your health and your comfort. If you are having dental problems or questions, please call 345-8333 now to receive a complimentary consultation. You may also direct your questions to Dr. Dillow at drdillow@todaysdentalcare.net or view our article archive at www.todaysdentalcare.net

todaysdentalcare.net

Q: My lower denture is loose and always has been. I'm using a lot of Poligrip, but that doesn't really help. Half the time I leave them out and it's driving my wife crazy. What can I do?

A: I feel your pain. Many people have a similar problem with their lower dentures. For most people the upper will function