Q: I was looking at a recent photograph of myself and realized that my teeth do not show when I smile like they used to. What can be done about teeth that are getting shorter?

A: Some tooth wear can occur as we age, but if it is a significant amount of wear there is likely a reason. Clenching and grinding the teeth together can cause noticeable wear of the teeth. The sooner the wear is controlled, the better and cheaper the outcome.

Ask The Dentist

Short, worn teeth can be made beautiful and full size again. Make sure that you get to approve the shape, size and color of your new smile with a trial version that can be worn home for a test drive.

If the wear is just starting, a protective nightguard can be made to protect the teeth while you sleep.
